WORLD WATER DAY

On account of World Water Day, the Institution's Innovation Council, SGC arranged a field visit for the students of PG Department of English to Auroville Botanical Garden on 22nd March 2024. This visit was organized to enhance students' awareness of environmental issues, particularly water conservation, and to explore the intersection of literature and ecology.

The event began with an opening ceremony where the Chief In charge of Auroville Botanical Garden, along with local environmentalists and water conservation experts, welcomed the visitors. They emphasized the significance of World Water Day and the need for collective action to protect water resources. Our students actively participated in a guided tour of the Auroville Botanical Garden, which included:

Rainwater Harvesting Systems: Demonstrations of the garden's rainwater harvesting techniques and how they contribute to sustainable water management.

Native and Drought-Resistant Plants: An exhibit showcasing the garden's extensive collection of native and drought-resistant plants, emphasizing their role in conserving water.

Water-Wise Gardening Practices: Insights into gardening practices that reduce water consumption while maintaining plant health and biodiversity.

The visit provided an enriching experience for the students, who actively engaged in the activities and discussions. Feedback from the students highlighted their appreciation for the practical demonstrations and the opportunity to connect their academic studies with real-world environmental issues.
